- GADN Hosts Meeting at Marie Stopes!

The GADN was delighted to host its quarterly meeting at Marie Stopes International, London. Thursday 4 June 2009. The meeting discussed: Reproductive Rights: how far have we come? Sexual and Reproductive Health Rights in the context of the International Conference of Populations and Development and we were delighted to be joined by speakers: Marianne Hasselgrave - Chair of the UK Sexual and Reproductive Health Rights Working Group in the ICPD, Erica Nelson, Knowledge Manager, Research and Metrics Team Marie Stopes International, Reineira Arguello, Programme Manager Latin America - WOMANKIND Worldwide and Anne Quesney, Head of Advocacy - Marie Stopes International.

The meeting served to raise some interesting questions about work on sexual and reproductive health rights in the development sector and look at recent progressions and backtracks in this area. The notes for this meeting will be circulated to attendees and members shortly, if you would like a copy please email us directly to request them.

The Members' Section of the meeting also discussed GADN news including setting up as company and charity, which is due to happen shortly, the ongoing process of recruiting GADN Steering Group members (which we have postponed until after we have become a company and charity) as well as hearing members' news updates. We were also delighted to be joined by Simon Chase from ACTSA who came to update the GADN members on the UN Gender Equality Architecture Reform Campaign.

- GADN goes to WIDE Annual Conference

- IDS - 'Why is development work so straight? And what can we do about it?' IDS, University of Sussex, Brighton, 21/07/09

Some development work has reinforced inequalities around sexuality and gender. Sometimes even the interventions seeking greater justice and equality - such as those associated with Gender and Development, the Men and Masculinities field, Rights-Based Development, empowerment and participation - serve to reinforce oppressive sexuality and gender norms. If development really did justice to the diversity of people's social and sexual identities, livelihoods and living arrangements, how would it be different to the approaches we see today?

For more information see attached. To sign up to attend, please email Stephen Wood s.wood@ids.ac.uk asap.

- IDS - 'Strange Bedfellows? Sex and International Development' Palace of Westminster, Room CRI9, 01/07/2009.

HIV/AIDS takes millions of lives each year and health complications around sex, reproduction and pregnancy are among the leading causes of death among women in developing countries. Health issues related to sexuality are beginning to be recognised by international development actors. But there is less acknowledgement of the role that pressure to conform to norms around sexuality plays in influencing well-being. Lesbians, gay men, bisexuals, transgender and intersex people, sex workers, single women, women who have sex outside of marriage and non-macho men may face not only pressure to conform, but stigma, discrimination and violence if they do not. This meeting offers an exciting opportunity to explore the ways in which poverty reduction efforts and work on sexuality and sexual rights intersect with a view to improved policy and programming. For more information and RSVP please email Charlie Matthews here.

- Take action: Put women's rights at the heart of UN economic crisis summit!

Womankind Worldwide is asking the public to take action and ensure the UK government puts women's rights at the heart of solutions to the economic crisis, you do this by clicking here.

The UK government and other world leaders will be meeting at the UN in New York from 24th-26th June for a global summit on the economic crisis. The financial crisis is having a massive impact on poor households and in particular women – and we want to make sure they put women's rights and gender equality at the heart of solutions to the crisis.

Please take action and encourage others to do the same by forwarding the e-mail link to as many networks, colleagues, friends and family as you can!

More information on Womankind Worldwide events can be found in their newsletter and their website.

- OneWorldAction – Campaign: More Women More Power

Women make up 50 per cent of the world's population but only 30 per cent of the world's decision makers. One World Action launched the More Women More Power campaign at the close of last year to campaign for radical measures to change these dismal statistics and we need your support. If you believe that it is a matter of justice that women be fairly represented in the decisions that shape their lives and act now. For more information please visit their add your signature to the More Women More Power e-pledge

- OneWorldAction – Run the British 10km

The ASICS British 10K on Sunday 12th July, attracts runners from all over the world, including Olympic champions, charity fun runners and fitness enthusiasts. On the day, 26,000 people are set to take part, running past many of London world famous historic landmarks on their way to the finish line at Whitehall. In return for a guaranteed place, we're asking runners to raise a minimum of 250 pounds in sponsorship. As well as plenty of advice and materials to help you fundraise- including sponsor forms and a t-shirt- we'll also provide refreshments and goodie bag at the end.

Sign up today and encourage friends or family to join you or get a team of colleagues together and run in fancy dress! For more information please kindly contact Verity Owers at 020 7833 4075 or please visit their website. Here

UN and European Commission News

- Lighten the load: In a time of crisis, European aid has never been so important

The new Aid Watch report, Lighten the load: In a time of crisis, European aid has never been so important, was launched on 14 May in Brussels. The report reveals that while developing countries face the full impact of the financial and economic crisis, European governments are falling short by nearly €40bn in their aid promises. According to AidWatch, European governments have promised to increase their aid levels and improve aid quality by signing up to international commitments such as the Paris Declaration. However, the EU fails to deliver on its pledges on aid quality and quantity, at a time when poor families need it most. You can download the full report here.

- European Commission and UNIFEM partner to Support Gender Equality in the context of HIV/AIDS

The European Commission and UNIFEM are embarking on a programme that will be implemented in Rwanda, Kenya, Jamaica, Papua New Guinea and Cambodia. With a total budget of 2450,354 euro for three years, the programme will focus on promoting leadership of HIV-positive women's groups and gender equality advocates, to ensure the gender equality priorities are identified, realized and budgeted in national HIV and AIDS responses. You can read more information at here.

- The European GEAR Campaign: Build a United Nations that really works for all women!

New website invites European civil society organisations and citizens to join a global campaign to create a strong United Nations agency for women's rights. Millions of women and men and hundreds of civil society organisations from all over the world are at the moment working together in the Gender Equality Architecture Reform (GEAR) Campaign to press governments to improve the way the United Nations works for gender equality, and to create a single strong women's entity. The European Focal Point of the GEAR Campaign has launched a website to engage civil society organisations and individuals in the Campaign. For more information, contact the European GEAR coordinator: campaign@un-gear.eu

DFID/UK News

- The Gender Action for Peace and Security (GAPS)- Launched Global Monitoring Checklist on women, peace and security in the Houses of Parliament.

The Global Monitoring Checklist monitors implementation of UN Security Council Resolution 1325 in Afghanistan, Democratic Republic of Congo, Northern Ireland, Nepal and Sri Lanka.

The research lays out up-to-date information on women, peace and security issues in the five countries and identifies achievements, good practices, challenges and obstacles to the implementation of UNSCR 1325. It provides practical information and recommendations which can be used to support national governments, the international community and civil society actors in their work around on peace and security.
